Pelican Worldwide Ltd, the London-based corporate investigations and intelligence firm, is introducing a new research product called “Pelican Lite”. Adding to its existing range of services, Pelican feels this latest product will help clients to quickly access relevant information when they need it most, at a cost effective price.

In today's world, a wealth of information can be accessed at the touch of a button. However, sifting through that information, and deciphering the relevant and meaningful facts, can often be a challenge, especially for those who are time-poor.

The new “Pelican Lite” is a high-level report designed to help those who need relevant, filtered and timely information. Using Pelican's experience, it provides clients with greater insight before a meeting, instant preparation for an interview, or just deeper understanding of a specific issue. For a fixed fee, Pelican takes away the hassle and inconvenience of having to sift through reams of information by using our refined research skills to produce a high-level briefing note on an expedited timeline.

Nicholas Whetherly, Pelican's Managing Director, commented:

“We have successfully carried out a number of these reports for clients in recent weeks, with overwhelming success. The feedback we have received shows that our clients feel that having a skilled, independent third party to carry out the research, gives them confidence and reassurance as they progress their own businesses. From our perspective, we see this as another integral expansion of our industry in helping clients to know who they are dealing with. The bottom line is, clients need good information quickly and this is what Pelican Lite can do.”

- A comprehensive and easy to read aide-memoire on a subject (such as an individual, company or issue) that can be tailored to a range of formats.
- It can provide a client with an immediate awareness of any obvious key issues or 'red flags'.
- It saves clients' time, utilising Pelican's research and analytical skills to compile the document.
- Providing high-level insight to the client, which may either preclude or encourage progress in a potential business relationship.
- Offers global coverage, with several languages spoken in-house.
